VODAFONE & CHINA MOBILE FORM CONSORTIUM FOR MYANMAR LICENCE

Vodafone Group Plc (Vodafone) and China Mobile Limited (China Mobile) today jointly announced that they have signed an agreement to form a consortium to bid for a mobile telecommunications licence in Myanmar. This strategic agreement builds on a strong relationship between the two companies dating back to 2000.

The Myanmar communications sector is about to enter a period of rapid structural expansion as the government seeks to increase the number of mobile operators from two to four while taking measures to encourage and support the development of mobile network infrastructure across the country.

With a comparatively young and highly literate population of around 60 million, a GDP growth rate of 5.5% per annum and mobile phone penetration currently below 10% significantly lower than in many other emerging economies Myanmar will be an important new market for the global mobile industry. The licensing round is also an opportunity to accelerate the pace of Myanmar's social and economic development through mass-market adoption of mobile services, similar to the mobile-led transformation underway within many other Asian and African countries.

The two new licences will authorise the licence holders to build, own and operate a mobile network on a nationwide basis for an initial term of 15 years. The Vodafone-China Mobile pre-qualification application has been submitted to the Myanmar authorities in line with the submission deadline of 4 April 2013. Further details of the proposed Vodafone-China Mobile consortium will be announced in due course.

The consortium wishes to remind investors that the joint application for a Myanmar Telecommunications Licence by Vodafone and China Mobile is still at a preliminary stage and may or may not be ultimately successful.

VODAFONE AND ICICI BANK LAUNCH MOBILE MONEY SERVICE

AIMED AT INDIA'S 700 MILLION UNBANKED POPULATION

Vodafone India and ICICI Bank, India's largest private sector bank, today launched M-Pesa – a leading mobile money transfer and payment service – in a move to help approximately 700 million of the country's population who previously had no access to conventional banking.

M-Pesa was launched by Vodafone in 2007 and is now available in eight countries, including Kenya, Tanzania and the Democratic Republic of Congo. The service allows customers to send and receive small amounts of money via their mobile phones as securely and simply as sending a text message. Prior to M-Pesa, many people in developing markets had no choice but to move cash around in person or by public transport, exposing them to delays, personal risk and loss of money in certain cases.

Following a successful trial, the service will be offered initially through more than 8,300 specially trained and authorised M-Pesa agents in eastern areas of India, including Kolkata, West Bengal, Bihar and Jharkhand, covering a population of around 220 million people. The service will be rolled out across the rest of India in a phased approach.

M-Pesa opens up a range of banking services which were previously out of reach for a vast number of customers, particularly those living in rural areas with little or no banking infrastructure. It will also allow users working in cities to securely send money home to family and friends living in villages. Key services include:

- The ability to deposit and withdraw cash from designated outlets;
- Transfer money to any mobile phone in India;
- Pay money into any bank account in India;
- Top-up airtime on a mobile device, pay utility bills and Direct-To-Home television subscriptions; and
- Make purchases at selected shops.

Marten Pieters, Managing Director and CEO of Vodafone India, said: For millions of people in India, a mobile phone is a bank account, a front door to a micro-business or a lifeline to people in the remotest areas. Research shows that M-Pesa brings real benefits to users in their daily lives, saving three hours a week of their time and around $3 in money transfer costs a significant amount to people in some areas.

In partnership with ICICI Bank, we will provide people in remote areas with a convenient way to bank, transfer money and make payments in a safe and secure manner. We have customised our offering to serve the needs of Indian customers while ensuring its compliance with all applicable regulations. Financial inclusion is a national priority and we believe that with M-Pesa, we now have the ideal offering to enable this.

Rajiv Sabharwal, Executive Director, ICICI Bank, added: ICICI Bank has been at the forefront of technological innovations in banking. With the launch of M-Pesa, we now offer an innovative service that provides basic banking facilities to millions of Indians who still depend on informal channels for their banking needs.

Our partnership will effectively leverage the security of financial transactions provided to customers by ICICI Bank with Vodafone's significant distribution reach. This launch is in line with the Bank's objective of achieving greater financial inclusion. It also enriches the Bank's existing suite of mobile banking offerings.

Note to Editors

M-Pesa had 17.3 million active customers as at 31 December 2012 and currently around 100,000 authorised agents worldwide.

A customer can buy airtime, pay for bills such as electricity and water as well as groceries. Many other businesses are using the service to allow their customers to pay them easily and safely. Additionally in Kenya, Safaricom and Vodafone recently launched a savings and loans product in partnership with the Commercial Bank of Africa (CBA).

M-Pesa helps some of the poorest and most vulnerable people. One particular highlight of this is the Vodafone-backed Moyo project in Tanzania which treats women of a debilitating postnatal condition, obstetric fistula, and helps pay for their transport to a hospital through M-Pesa.

VODAFONE RED TO TRANSFORM CONSUMER AND BUSINESS EXPERIENCE OF MOBILE COMMUNICATIONS ACROSS 14 EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Vodafone today announced the expansion of its Vodafone Red customer proposition to cover a total of 14 European markets, together with the addition of new and compelling customer options.

Vodafone Red offers European consumers and businesses one integrated service plan with:

- unlimited calls and text messages to any network in the customer's home country;
- very generous mobile data allowances; and
- world-class cloud and online protection services to back up and secure personal data available across Vodafone's leading-edge mobile networks.

In addition, by the end of 2013 Vodafone customers across all 14 European markets will benefit from further innovations, including:

- multi-device plans, enabling customers to connect a smartphone and tablet under one Vodafone Red plan, making it simple and cost effective to own and manage multiple devices under a single bill;
- family plans, allowing individual family members to sign up to a Vodafone Red package at a discounted price;
- a wider range of device choices, giving customers the freedom to have a new device included in the cost of their contract, receive a discount by choosing a nearly new smartphone or choose to receive a new device every year for a small extra fee;
- industry-leading roaming plans for Vodafone Red customers travelling in Europe, giving them the freedom to make calls, send texts and use data worry-free, for an additional daily price of around 3;

- more safe and secure solutions, including world-class cloud and backup services and device insurance, giving customers peace of mind in the event of theft or damage for a small additional monthly fee; and
- the very best of the Vodafone network experience, including options to connect to new, ultra-fast 4G services where available.

With 14 countries on the same platform, Vodafone Red is Vodafone's largest multi-country marketing campaign for five years.

Vodafone Group Chief Commercial Officer Morten Lundal said: "Vodafone Red is the best of everything from Vodafone. It is what any smartphone or tablet owner would want. We know customers are looking for the freedom to communicate with confidence in order to help them with their increasingly complex mobile lives. Vodafone Red has been built from the ground up to meet the demanding needs of European consumers and businesses. We look forward to bringing Vodafone Red to all of our European customers in the coming weeks."

VODAFONE POWERS MAHINDRA REVA S e2o CONNECTED CAR

- India's first truly connected car enabled by Vodafone M2M services
- First communications service provider to offer M2M platform in the Indian market

Vodafone has announced that Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Pvt. Ltd., a part of the US $15.9 billion Mahindra Group, has powered its recently launched e2o electric vehicle - the first truly connected car - with Vodafone's machine-to-machine (M2M) communication services.

Drivers of the e2o can remotely access a range of features and functions by using a smartphone app or dedicated web page. For example, they can check their battery charge, remotely control air-conditioning, lock or unlock doors and find the nearest charging station. The e2o also automatically alerts its owner if the parking brake is off or a door is left unlocked. Vodafone's communication technologies and M2M platform provide secure connectivity between the vehicle and the central application.

Chetan Maini, Founder and Chief of Technology and Strategy of Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Pvt. Ltd. said, "The e2o is the first and only Indian car, and among the few worldwide, to have telematics based features that enable anytime, anywhere connectivity between our customers and their cars. The high performance telematics solution developed by Mahindra Reva for the e2o offers one of the richest set of telematics enabled features offered on any car in the world today. We are pleased to partner with Vodafone as our exclusive Machine-to-Machine mobile connectivity solution provider. Going forward, connected car technologies will make a difference to convenience and safety, thereby making a positive impact on the way people commute and interact with their cars. We are sure that our association with Vodafone will provide an even greater value proposition to our customers and enable new innovations in this exciting space in the future."

Erik Brenneis, Director of M2M, Vodafone, said, "Vodafone brings together the world's largest mobile network, an outstanding customer experience and long track record of success in the global automotive market. We are proud to be the first telecom service provider to bring the M2M service platform to the Indian market today. An industry tailored offering coupled with secure connectivity, best in class M2M service platform and superior network from Vodafone provide Mahindra Reva the capability to develop a whole range of new services around India's first connected car."

With 9.7 million M2M connections and over 250 M2M specialists around the world, Vodafone is a leading provider in this fast-growing market and was recognised in February 2013 as an M2M Industry Icon by Analysys Mason in its independent M2M scorecard report.
