MINERA ANDES ANNOUNCES WORK STOPPAGE AT SAN JOSÉ MINE

SPOKANE, WASHINGTON May 13, 2009 - Minera Andes Inc. (the Corporation or Minera Andes ) announced today that it has been advised by Hochschild Mining plc ( Hochschild ) that production has been suspended at the San José Mine in Argentina due to a dispute among labor unions over employee affiliation. The San José Mine is operated by Hochschild, and Minera Andes has a 49% interest in the mine.

Hochschild has advised Minera Andes that daily production, which has been running at a rate of approximately 36,275 silver equivalent ounces (of which the share attributable to Minera Andes is approximately 17,775 silver equivalent ounces) has been suspended. Minera Andes understands that the stoppage is a consequence of a dispute between the truck drivers union and the miners union (the Asociación Obrera Minera Argentina or AOMA) over employee union affiliation. The San José Mine employs 20 truck drivers affiliated with the AOMA. The AOMA has announced its intention to extend work stoppages to other mines in Santa Cruz Province unless the government of Argentina intervenes to resolve the dispute between the two unions.

The Corporation will keep the market informed of developments as they occur.

Minera Andes is a gold, silver and copper exploration company working in Argentina, where it holds approximately 304,000 acres of mineral exploration land. As noted above, Minera Andes holds a 49% interest in the San José Mine. Minera Andes is also exploring the Los Azules copper project in San Juan province, where an exploration program has defined a resource and a preliminary assessment has been completed. Other exploration properties, primarily silver and gold, are also being evaluated in southern Argentina. The Corporation has 230,538,851 common shares issued and outstanding.
