Business Report for the 84th Fiscal Year

For the Period From: April 1, 2007 To: March 31, 2008

1. OUTLINE OF BUSINESS

(1) Review of Operations

During fiscal 2008, ended March 31, 2008, major developments in the economic environment surrounding Honda (Honda, consolidated subsidiaries and affiliates accounted for under the equity method) included worldwide increases in commodity prices, including crude oil, and an increasing deceleration in the U.S. economy caused by the effects of the subprime loan issue. In Europe, economic recovery was moderate owing to lackluster consumer spending and other factors. On the other hand, the economies of Asia outside Japan, especially China and India, recorded generally high economic growth. In Japan, private capital investment and personal consumption were virtually the same as the levels of the previous fiscal year, and signs of economic slowdown began to emerge.

Amid this operating environment, Honda worked to strengthen its corporate structure to respond quickly and accurately to changes in the diverse needs of its customers and society as a whole. In its R&D activities, the Company proactively developed advanced technologies to enhance the safety, environment-friendliness and attractiveness of its products. Regarding production, Honda undertook further measures to strengthen its manufacturing systems, while also beginning the operation of new factories and expanding the manufacturing capacity of subsidiaries in North America and Asia as well as subsidiaries in South America. With respect to sales activities, the Company worked to strengthen its sales and marketing systems and expanded its product lineup by proactively launching products with new value as well as supplying and sourcing products across borders from its plants around the world.

As a result, consolidated net sales in fiscal 2008 rose 8.3% compared to the previous fiscal year, to ¥12,002.8 billion. Profit-wise, operating income rose 11.9%, to ¥953.1 billion. This increase in net sales was due mainly to increased revenue, continuing cost reduction efforts and positive currency effects caused by the depreciation of the yen, more than offset the negative impact, which included increased sales incentives in North America, increased raw material costs and increased depreciation, selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expenses and R&D expenses. Income before income taxes rose 13.0%, to ¥895.8 billion. Net income rose 1.3%, to ¥600.0 billion, despite the increase in corporate income taxes.

Motorcycles

New Product Launches

Major developments during the fiscal year under review included the commencement of imports into Japan and Europe of the 110cc LEAD brand scooter from China, which offers low fuel consumption and is well-equipped with other features and accessories. Also, in Japan, Honda launched the large-scale 680cc DN-01 sports cruiser, which features original styling and a new type of automatic transmission as well as superior handling, along with the XR230 Motard dual sport motorcycle, which is suited to a wide range of road conditions, from city streets to winding roads, and offers a powerful ride. In North America, Europe and other regions, Honda introduced a new model version incorporating full model changes of the CBR1000RR super sport motorcycle. In North America, Honda newly introduced the TRX700XX sport ATV. In Europe, we newly introduced the S-WING 125cc scooter. In Asia, new product launches included the 100cc Cub-type REVO family motorcycle in Indonesia and the 150cc Hunk in India, which features advanced design that gives a feeling of volume. The REVO and Hunk are newly produced by Honda affiliates accounted for under the equity method in Indonesia and India, respectively. In addition, the production and sales of the 125cc motorcycle Kinhoei, which emphasizes practical use of daily transportation, began at an affiliate in China accounted for under the equity method.

Sales Volume and Profitability

Domestic sales declined 7.7% in comparison with the previous fiscal year, to 311 thousand units. Overseas unit sales decreased 10.2%, to 9,009 thousand unit, despite increased unit sales in other regions, including South America, mainly due to a decline in sales of parts for overseas production sold to affiliates in Asia accounted for under the equity method. *Total motorcycle unit sales, therefore, decreased 10.1%, to 9,320 thousand units. Revenue from unaffiliated customers rose 13.7%, to ¥1,558.6 billion, due mainly to increased sales in Asia and other regions and positive currency translation effects. Operating income increased 50.4%, to ¥151.2 billion, despite increased SG&A expenses as well as R&D expenses, due mainly to positive currency effects caused by appreciation of the Brazilian real against the Japanese yen and the change in model mix.

* Of the net sales of Honda-brand motorcycle products that are manufactured and sold by overseas affiliates accounted for under the equity method, those with respect to which parts for manufacturing were not supplied from Honda or its subsidiaries are not included in net sales and other operating revenue, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, these unit sales are not included in the financial results.

Automobiles

New Product Launches

In automobile operations, in Japan, Honda launched all-new FIT models that maintain the high-performance basic functions of previous FIT models and offer environment-friendliness and a comfortable ride, along with improved utility. In addition, Honda began sales of INSPIRE, its top-of-the-line sedan, which incorporates the new variable cylinder management (VCM) system and offers a combination of the power of the newly developed 3.5-liter i-VTEC engine with superior fuel economy. Also, in North America, Asia and other regions, Honda introduced all-new ACCORD models. These new models, including those powered by the newly developed 3.5-liter i-VTEC engine with the VCM system, offer not only improved safety features but also substantial improvement in passenger comfort. In Asia, Honda began sales of the ACURA MDX sports utility vehicle, which is made in Canada and offered in China. Also in China, production of CR-V models incorporating full model changes began at the plant of an affiliate accounted for under the equity method.

Sales Volume and Profitability

Unit sales in Japan were 615 thousand automobiles, 8.5% lower than that of the previous fiscal year. Overseas sales increased 11.1%, to 3,310 thousand units, driven by growth in North America, Europe, Asia and other regions. As a result, total automobile unit sales rose 7.5%, to 3,925 thousand units. Revenue from unaffiliated customers increased 6.8%, to ¥9,489.3 billion, supported by the favorable impact of higher unit sales, currency translation and other factors. Operating income rose 10.4%, to ¥661.6 billion, due mainly to higher revenue, continuing cost reduction efforts and positive currency translation effects more than offsetting the negative effects of an increase in sales incentives in North America, higher prices of raw materials, increases in SG&A expenses, and higher R&D and depreciation expenses.

Financial Services

Revenues of the Financial Services business segment from unaffiliated customers increased 30.2%, to ¥533.5 billion, primarily due to an increase in revenue from lease sales. Operating income expanded 2.0%, to ¥117.7 billion, despite an increase in SG&A expenses, as a result of increased profit attributable to higher revenue.

Power Products and Others

New Product Launches

In power product operations in Japan and other areas, Honda launched the BF40 and BF50, four-stroke outboard engines that combine electronic fuel injection (PGM-FI) with Honda's original boosted low-speed torque air/fuel ratio technology to improve acceleration performance as well as improvement in the fuel consumption ratio through the incorporation of a lean-burn regulator for use at cruising speeds. In Japan, Honda began sales of its originally developed thin film solar cells that incorporate a membrane formed from a copper, indium, gallium and selenium (CIGS) compound. Honda also began sales of its F530 and F730 general-purpose control assemblies for use by commercial farmers. These assemblies incorporate a new clutch lever that stops the unit when the operator removes his or her hand and are expected to contribute to safer machinery operation. Also, in its Lucky FU655 and Lucky FU755 rotary tillers, Honda began to sell units that have a parking brake that is standard equipment in addition to the previously introduced clutch lever.

Sales Volume and Profitability

Unit sales in Japan of power products increased 4.4% over the previous fiscal year, to 550 thousand. Overseas unit sales declined 6.6%, to 5,507 thousand, due to decreased unit sales in North America. Worldwide unit sales, therefore, decreased 5.7%, to 6,057 thousand units. Revenue from unaffiliated customers rose 0.8%, to ¥421.1 billion, due mainly to currency translation effects. Operating income declined 38.2%, to ¥22.3 billion, due mainly to increases in SG&A expenses and R&D expenses on other businesses, which more than offset positive currency effects caused by the depreciation of the yen against European currencies.

(3) Liquidity and Capital Resources

Funds for financing capital investments in Honda's manufacturing and sales businesses are provided mainly from cash generated by operating activities. Honda does not raise such funds through the issuance of stocks or bonds.

Honda funds its financial programs for customers and dealers primarily from corporate bonds, medium-term notes, commercial paper, securitization of monetary assets and from operating companies. The outstanding balance of funds for Honda's financial service subsidiaries at the end of the fiscal year under review was ¥4,778.9 billion.

(4) Preparing for the Future

In the global economy, there are concerns of economic slowdown in the U.S., Europe and Japan. In addition, the pace of economic expansion in Asia outside Japan is expected to decline. Moreover, the global business environment in which Honda's management operates still remains uncertain because of global political and economic uncertainties, fluctuations in oil and raw material prices and movements in currency, finance and capital markets. As a result, Honda expects the operating environment to remain difficult.

It is under these circumstances that Honda seeks to strengthen its corporate structure quickly and flexibly to meet the requirements of its customers and society and the changes in its business environment. Also, in order to improve the competitiveness of its products, Honda will endeavor to enhance its R&D, production and sales capabilities. Furthermore, Honda will continue striving to earn even more trust and understanding from society through Companywide activities. Honda recognizes that further enhancing the following specific areas is essential to its success:

1. Research and Development

Along with efforts to develop even more effective safety and environmental technologies, Honda will enhance creativity in its advanced technology and products, and will create and swiftly introduce new value-added products that meet specific needs in various markets around the world. Honda will also continue its efforts to research future technologies.

2. Production Efficiency

Honda will establish and enhance efficient and flexible production systems and expand production capacity at its global production bases, with the aim of increasing its capability of supplying high-quality products.

3. Sales Efficiency

Honda will remain proactive in its efforts to expand product lines through the innovative use of IT and to upgrade sales and service structure, in order to further satisfy its customers.

4. Product Quality

Responding to increasing customer demand, Honda will upgrade its quality control through enhancing the functions of and coordination among the development, purchasing, production, sales and service departments.

Table of Contents

5. Safety Technologies

Honda is working to develop safety technologies that enhance accident prediction and prevention, technologies to help reduce the risk of injuries to passengers and pedestrians from car accidents, and technologies that enhance compatibility between large and small vehicles, as well as expand its lineup of products incorporating such technologies. Honda will reinforce and continue to advance its contribution to traffic safety in motorized societies in Japan and abroad. Honda also intends to remain active in a variety of traffic safety programs, including advanced driving and motorcycling training schemes provided by local dealerships.

6. The Environment

Honda will step up its efforts to create better, cleaner and more fuel-efficient engine technologies and to further improve recyclables throughout its product lines. Honda will also work to advance fuel cell technology and steadily promote its new solar cell business. In addition, Honda will further its efforts to minimize its environmental impact. To this end, we set global targets to reduce the environmental burden as measured by the Life Cycle Assessment*, in all areas of business, spanning production, logistics and sales.

* Life Cycle Assessment: A comprehensive system for quantifying the impact Honda's products have on the environment at the different stages in their life cycles, from material procurement and energy consumption to waste disposal.

7. Continuing to Increase Society's Trust in and Understanding toward Honda

In addition to continuing to provide products incorporating Honda's advanced safety and environmental technologies, Honda will continue striving to earn even more trust and understanding from society by, among other things, undertaking activities for corporate governance, compliance and risk management and contributing to society.

Through these Company-wide activities, Honda will strive to materialize Honda's visions of Value Creation (Creating New Value for our Customers), Globalization (Expanding Regional Operations), and Commitment for the Future (Developing Safety and Environmental Solutions), with the aim of sharing joy with Honda's customers, thus becoming a company that society wants to exist.

 - The higher net sales recorded in fiscal 2007, compared with fiscal 2006, mainly reflected an increase in automobile sales volume in North America and an increase attributable to currency exchange conversion.
 - Information on operations during the fiscal year under review is shown in the section entitled 1. OUTLINE OF BUSINESS, (1) Review of Operations.

Net assets per share	Yen	1,677.57	1,900.00	977.67	1,031.03

Notes: 1. The amounts in millions of yen described above disregard and round off amounts of less than ¥1 million.

2. For the 82nd fiscal year, operating income, ordinary income and net income were higher than for the 81st period because of the effect of the weakening of the yen, the positive impact of higher net sales on profitability, reductions in costs and other factors. Note that net income for the 82nd period contains ¥91,541 million in extraordinary income that was recorded at the time the Company's national pension was returned to the Japanese government.

3. Operating income for the 84th fiscal year is lower than that for the 83rd fiscal year because the positive impact of cost reductions was more than offset by a rise in prices of raw materials and higher R&D expenditures. In addition, net income for the 84th fiscal year is higher than that for the 83rd fiscal year owing to higher ordinary income and the fact that net income for the 83rd fiscal year includes an extraordinary loss of ¥75,131 million that was recorded at the time, owing to depreciation charges applicable to previous years because of a change in the method of accounting for depreciation.

4. As from the 79th fiscal year, per share information is calculated using Accounting Standard for Basic Net Income per Share (Accounting Standards Board of Japan, Financial Accounting Standards No. 2, September 25, 2002) and Implementation Guidance on Accounting Standard for Net Income per Share (Accounting Standards Board of Japan, Financial Accounting Implementation Guidance No. 4, September 25, 2002).

5. The Company implemented a two-for-one stock split on July 1, 2006. Therefore, in and after fiscal 2007, figures for net income per share and net assets per share have been calculated based on the post-split number of shares outstanding. In addition, hypothetical figures for net income per share and net assets per share for fiscal 2006 and earlier fiscal years recalculated based on the post-split number of shares outstanding are as follows.

	FY2005	FY2006
Net income per share	77.37	163.92
	FY2005 Year-end	FY2006 Year-end
Net assets per share	838.79	950.00

Initiatives Going Forward

In April 2008, Honda has begun to implement its 10th Medium-Term Management Plan, covering the ongoing fiscal three-year period. This plan has been launched in the backdrop of considerable uncertainty, including the rising importance of climate change issues, sudden fluctuations in foreign exchange rates and unforeseeable future trends in the world economy. The basic concept of the new three-year plan is to establish the necessary operating structures, developing and extending from Japan to the world, to enable Honda to continue to expand business globally in the medium-to-long term. The plan sets two unique directions: to develop world-leading environmental technologies, and launch them into Honda products, and make these advancing products available to even more customers and to advance the manufacturing system for these advancing products toward the next generation. Honda is working to improve and mature these environmentally advanced technologies and products in Japan, and, together with its next-generation manufacturing system, Honda aims to take initiatives to expand them to the world. To attain the goals of this new medium-term management plan, Honda is taking various initiatives. Here, we would like to introduce major three initiative schemes: strengthening of motorcycle business, innovation of automobile manufacturing in Japan and hybrid strategy to achieve full-scale market penetration.

Strengthening of Motorcycle Business

Importance of Motorcycle Business

Motorcycles are one of Honda's major strengths. The motorcycle is a basic means of transportation, and Honda anticipates that demand will continue to expand, especially in Asia outside Japan and South America. This year, Honda will mark the 50th anniversary of the introduction of its Super Cub model, which has become a real symbol of Honda itself. Although the Super Cub's original concept and basic styling, which were developed in Japan, have not changed its original concept, Honda has evolved the Super Cub to meet the needs and desires of people in various regions and expanded sales of these units throughout the world. Honda intends to continue to create new value-added motorcycles comparable with the Super Cub that are worthy of the Honda lineage and exceed customers' expectations.

To accomplish this objective, Honda is strengthening its R&D capabilities. Honda will proactively install PGM-FI (Honda's Programmed Fuel Injection) in its products in the area of environmental technology and motorcycle airbag systems and ABS (antilock brake systems) in more products in the area of safety technology. In addition, Honda will introduce its innovative environmental and safety technologies, including a variable cylinder management (VCM) system for motorcycles that significantly improves fuel efficiency and the electronically controlled combined ABS (C-ABS), an advanced braking system that further improves stability while braking. Moreover, Honda will improve the product attractiveness of medium-sized to large models and strengthen those elements that promote the joy of riding.

Strengthening Motorcycle Production Systems

The new motorcycle plant at Honda's Kumamoto Factory, which went into operation in April 2008, will play a major role in motorcycle production. To efficiently produce more than 60 types of motorcycles from small-sized commuters to large motorcycles, Honda built highly efficient and configured production lines to accommodate the unique characteristics of each model. These new initiatives at the Kumamoto Factory will be transferred to the Honda overseas factories in growing motorcycle markets in Asia outside Japan and Latin America. This will be our driving force to create new products that exceed the customers' expectations in these regions. The new factory will be a driving force for growth of Honda's motorcycle business going forward.

Innovation of Automobile Manufacturing in Japan

Honda will be executing the most significant innovation of production in its history. Over the next three years, Honda is scheduled to add new and upgraded production facilities in Japan. Several next-generation production facilities will go into operation, including an engine factory at Ogawa, an automobile plant located in Yorii and a new mini-vehicle facility at subsidiary Yachiyo Industry Co., Ltd. The Hamamatsu Factory will be transformed to be a plant that is responsible for transmissions. Outside Japan, in the latter half of 2008, Honda is scheduled to begin production at its new facilities in Indiana, in the United States, a new engine factory in Canada and a second automobile factory in Thailand.

The Ogawa Engine Factory will be responsible for the production of next-generation, environment-friendly engines, which will require more-sophisticated production technology. At this plant, Honda plans to flexibly produce multiple engines that require different production processes, including gasoline engines, diesel engines, in-line 4-cylinder engines and V-type engines. The Yorii Automobile Factory will launch the most-sophisticated system that will control the amount of energy use for manufacturing as a leading automobile plant in the environmental field. The Yorii plant also is designed to be worker-friendly. The Yorii facility works as a next-generation, automobile production facility that can create new value.

Hybrid Strategy to Achieve Full-Scale Market Penetration

The Honda Group regards the reduction of CO2 emissions, which is a global environmental problem, as one of the most important issues it must address. Therefore, Honda has set worldwide targets for reducing CO2 emissions from its products and its production activities.

Honda is scheduling the introduction of a new convenient and compact 5-door/5-passenger hybrid vehicle with light weight that is equipped with an efficient, integrated motor assist system in Japan, North America and Europe early in 2009.

Honda believes that this new hybrid vehicle will provide not only superior fuel efficiency but also high performance and comfortable driving. In addition, Honda is working to offer a new sporty hybrid model based on the CR-Z concept that was exhibited at the 40th Tokyo Motor Show, an all-new Civic Hybrid and a Fit Hybrid model.

FCX Clarity

Honda will begin lease sales of the FCX Clarity fuel cell vehicle, which emits no CO2 in the United States in July 2008 and in Japan this autumn.
