REPORTS AND EVENTS OF DEFAULT:

The indenture, to the extent relating to the notes offered hereunder and under Pricing Supplement No. 5, dated January 11, 2010, certain notes previously issued under the indenture and all future series of

Under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, as amended, Prudential Financial, Inc. may have a separate obligation to file with the trustee documents or reports it is required to file with the SEC. Prudential Financial, Inc.'s failure to comply with either filing obligation is not an event that will result in an event of default under the indenture. Accordingly, acceleration of Prudential Financial, Inc.'s obligations under the notes offered hereunder will not be a remedy for its failure to file those documents or reports with the trustee, and you may have no remedy for the failure other than an action in damages. For certain other outstanding series of notes of Prudential Financial, Inc. acceleration is a remedy, upon appropriate notice and passage of time, for the holders of those securities for Prudential Financial, Inc.'s failure to file documents or reports with the trustee.

Recent Legislative Developments Potentially Affecting Taxation of the Notes Held by or through Foreign Entities

Proposed legislation recently introduced in the United States Congress would generally require the withholding of tax at a rate of 30 percent on interest paid with respect to debt securities and the gross proceeds of a disposition of debt securities paid to a foreign financial institution, as defined in the legislation, unless the institution enters into an agreement with the U.S. government to collect and provide to the U.S. tax authorities substantial information regarding U.S. account holders of the institution (which would include certain equity and debt holders of the institution, as well as certain account holders that are foreign entities with U.S. owners). The proposed legislation would also generally require the withholding of tax at a rate of 30 percent on interest paid with respect to debt securities and the gross proceeds of a disposition of debt securities paid to a non-financial foreign entity unless the entity provides the withholding agent with a certification identifying the direct and indirect U.S. owners of the entity. Under certain circumstances, a non-U.S. holder of debt securities might be eligible for refunds or credits of such taxes. Prudential Financial, Inc. will not be required to pay additional amounts with respect to any taxes withheld from payments on the notes as a result of the enactment and implementation of the proposed or similar legislation. As currently drafted, the legislation is proposed to be effective for amounts paid after December 31, 2012, and will not apply to payments made with respect to obligations outstanding on the date that is two years after the enactment of the legislation. Investors are encouraged to consult with their own tax advisors regarding the possible implications of this proposed legislation on their investment in the notes offered hereunder.

Concurrent Offering

Concurrent with this offering of notes, we are also offering $500 million aggregate principal amount of 2.75% Medium-Term Notes, Series D, due January 14, 2013.

Use of Proceeds

We intend to use the net proceeds from the sale of the notes for general corporate purposes, including making loans to our affiliates and repaying at maturity a portion of a $1 billion borrowing by The Prudential Insurance Company of America from The Federal Home Loan Bank of New York, which matures on June 4, 2010 and carries a floating rate of interest based on LIBOR.

Prudential Financial, Inc. estimates that the total offering expenses, excluding underwriting discounts and commissions paid to the underwriters, will be approximately $150,000.
