- <sup>1</sup> Note: A securities rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal at any time. Note that S&P is expected soon to implement a change in its methodology applicable to capital instruments, such as the notes, which may lead to S&P downgrading the notes to below investment grade. S&P is expected to publish its revised methodology during the week of September 8, 2014. For more information, see Risk Factors Standard & Poor's is currently revising its criteria for determining issue credit ratings on bank and prudentially regulated finance company hybrid capital instruments, such as the notes. If the notes are downgraded such that they would be considered sub-investment grade securities by Standard & Poor's, the notes may as a result be subject to a higher risk of price volatility than higher-rated securities and their market value and liquidity may decline in the Preliminary Prospectus Supplement.
