TYSON UPDATE ON SEC INVESTIGATION

Springdale, AR, August 16, 2004 - Tyson Foods, Inc. (NYSE:TSN) (the Company) today announced it has received notice the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") intends to recommend the SEC bring a civil enforcement action against the Company and is considering seeking a monetary penalty. The notice alleges the Company's proxy statements for fiscal years 1997 through 2003 failed to fully comply with SEC regulations with respect to the description and disclosure of perquisites totaling approximately $1.7 million provided to Don Tyson, former Senior Chairman of the Company, and the Company failed to maintain an adequate system of internal controls regarding the personal use of Company assets and the disclosure of perquisites and personal benefits.

Independent members of the Board of Directors have conducted a review of this matter, and Don Tyson has voluntarily paid $1.516 million to the Company for certain items identified by independent members of the Board for the fiscal years 1997 through 2003. The Company is presently unable to predict the outcome of this matter or the terms upon which it might eventually be resolved. However, the Company does not believe the amounts at issue in any potential SEC action are material to the Company's financial position or results of operations.

The SEC staff has also advised the Company it is considering recommending the SEC bring administrative cease-and-desist actions against two Company employees, neither of which are executive officers, for allegedly causing these failures. In addition, the Company has learned Don Tyson has received notice the staff intends to recommend that the SEC bring a similar civil enforcement action against him. Other than Don Tyson, the notice received by the Company does not contain any allegations or statements regarding any other individual board members or executive officers of the Company.

On March 29th the Company had previously announced it was the subject of a formal non-public investigation by the SEC. The Company has been cooperating fully with the SEC and will continue to do so. Prior to the time that the staff makes a formal enforcement recommendation, if any, to the SEC, the Company will have the opportunity to respond to this notice and submit reasons why it believes the civil enforcement action should not be brought. The Company intends to respond to this notice fully and promptly.
