ITEM 2. ACQUISITION OR DISPOSITION OF ASSETS

On December 4, 2002, the Company completed the divestment of its subsidiary AXXUS Corporation in exchange for the cancellation of Company debt in the amount of $411,406. The upshot of the transaction was the disposition by the Company of its uncompleted technology projects in exchange for the cancellation of debt owed by the Company to the contractor developing the technology.

Since inception the Company's original business strategy was to operate as a venture development organization initially focused on content distribution utilizing the Internet. Originally, the Company's core business venture was RAHX 1.0, a software platform that uses Peer to Peer (P2P) technologies to enable and enhance the distribution of digital media files over the Internet. The technology has not reached commercial viability and the Company can no longer fund its development. Accordingly, it was determined to be in the best interest of the Company to divest itself of the unfinished technology in exchange for the

The Stock Purchase Agreement which consummated the transaction was between the Company and Emanuel Koseos who had been serving as our Chief Technology Officer, a position from which he has now resigned.
