Item 8.01. Other Events - Disclosure of Special Acquisition-Related Incentive Plan Targets.

In order to supplement disclosure in its 2018 proxy statement on Form DEF14A filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) on March 14, 2018, related to its Special Acquisition-Related Incentive Plan (the SAIP) associated with integration activities mainly relating to the June 30, 2016, Rexam transaction, Ball Corporation hereby discloses the SAIP's financial performance measures. The key SAIP parameters were disclosed on Form 8-K, filed with the SEC August 1, 2016. For perspective, the cumulative trailing economic value added (EVA) and free cash flow for Ball Corporation for the 42-month period prior to June 30, 2016, were approximately $620 million and $1,324 million, respectively, and as such the SAIP targets were set with meaningful improvements in EVA and free cash flow growth required in order for the participants to receive any such awards.

The SAIP award range, performance measures, performance period and award vest date are set forth in the table below.

Award Range:	0%	Target 100%	Maximum 200%
Performance Measures: (Defined cumulative goals over Performance Period)	EVA® $ Goal $749 Million	EVA® $ Goal $832 Million	EVA® $ Goal $915 Million
	Cash Flow $ Goal $2,119 Million	Cash Flow $ Goal $2,355 Million	Cash Flow $ Goal $2,591 Million
Performance Period:	July 1, 2016 through December 31, 2019 (42-month period)
Award Vest Date:	January 31, 2020 or the date of the first quarterly Board of Directors meeting following the end of the Performance Period, whichever is later.

Free cash flow and EVA® are not defined terms under U.S. GAAP. Ball Corporation defines free cash flow as cash flow from operating activities less capital expenditures. Free cash flow is typically derived directly from Ball Corporation's consolidated statement of cash flows; however, it may be adjusted for items that affect comparability between periods. EVA® is calculated by subtracting a charge for the use of invested capital from net operating profit after-tax as illustrated below:

Generating profits in excess of both operating and capital costs (debt and equity) creates EVA® dollars. If EVA® improves, value has been created.

Item 5.02. Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

As previously disclosed, on July 26, 2016, the Human Resources Committee (the Committee) of the Board of Directors (the Board) of Ball Corporation (the Company) took the following action which was ratified by the Board on July 27, 2016:

The Committee approved, in addition to taking other actions as previously disclosed, a Special Acquisition-Related Incentive Plan (the Plan), available to key executives and employees who are in a position to have a significant impact on the successful integration of the recently acquired Rexam business into the Company. The Plan is based on a 42-month performance period, beginning July 2016, and ending on December 31, 2019. Participant awards will be stock-based, in the form of Performance Restricted Stock Units (PRSUs). The payout of a participant's award may range from 0 percent to 200 percent of that participant's target award opportunity. The PRSUs will cliff vest after the end of the 42-month cycle, based on financial performance. Financial performance measures will be EVA® (economic value added) and cash flow, weighted 50 percent/50 percent, respectively.
