

PROXY STATEMENT SUPPLEMENT

On September 11, 2015, Merge Healthcare Incorporated, a Delaware corporation (“Merge Healthcare”), filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) a definitive proxy statement (the “Definitive Proxy Statement”) with respect to the special meeting of Merge Healthcare stockholders scheduled to be held on October 13, 2015 (the “Special Meeting”) to, among other things, vote on a proposal to adopt the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 6, 2015 (as it may be amended from time to time, the “Merger Agreement”), by and among International Business Machines Corporation, a New York corporation (“IBM”), Datong Acquisition Corp., a Delaware corporation and wholly-owned subsidiary of IBM (“Merger Sub”), and Merge Healthcare. The Merger Agreement provides for the merger of Merger Sub with and into Merge Healthcare (the “Merger”), with Merge Healthcare surviving the Merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of IBM.

This supplemental information should be read in conjunction with the Definitive Proxy Statement, which should be read in its entirety. All terms used but not defined in this Definitive Proxy Statement supplement dated October 5, 2015 (this “Proxy Statement Supplement”) shall have the meanings set forth in the Definitive Proxy Statement.

SUPPLEMENTAL DISCLOSURES

THE MERGER

Background to the Merger

The following disclosure is to replace and supplement the first full paragraph on page 25 of the Definitive Proxy Statement:

At the August 5, 2015 meeting of our board of directors, representatives of Jenner also reviewed the proposed terms and conditions of the merger agreement, including our representations, warranties and covenants in the merger agreement, the circumstances under which IBM would not be required to complete the acquisition after entering into the merger agreement, the ability of our board of directors to respond to a superior acquisition proposal by withdrawing its recommendation to stockholders, our inability to terminate the merger agreement to accept a superior proposal or if our board of directors changed its recommendation and our continuing obligation to submit the merger agreement to a vote of our stockholders, and the termination fee payable by us under certain circumstances, including if IBM were to terminate the merger agreement after our board of directors withdrew or gave notice of its intent to withdraw its recommendation of the merger. A representative of Jenner reviewed our directors’ fiduciary duties under applicable Delaware corporate law in connection with the proposed transaction and then reviewed the proposed resolutions to be considered by our board of directors for approval. A representative of Jenner also noted that Goldman Sachs had provided an excerpt from its draft fairness opinion, which excerpt provided additional details regarding investment banking and other financial services that Goldman Sachs had previously performed for IBM. After further review and discussion, our board of directors concluded that in its view such prior relationships with IBM had not affected Goldman Sachs’ independence or its ability to provide an appropriate fairness opinion to us. In addition, one of our directors, Richard A. Reck, disclosed to our board of directors that he owned IBM shares that he estimated at that time to represent approximately 5% of his net worth. In fact, Mr. Reck subsequently confirmed that his IBM shares represented less than 5% of his net worth and that he has owned these shares since the early 1990s. Mr. Reck stated that he did not believe that his IBM stock holdings would impact his judgment in voting on the proposed transaction with IBM. Mr. Reck then recused himself from the meeting. After review and discussion, our board of directors concluded that there was no conflict that should preclude Mr. Reck from voting on the transaction. In so concluding, our board of directors considered, among other things, (i) its belief that the merger was not likely to have any significant effect on IBM's stock price given that the total value of the proposed merger represented only a small fraction of the market capitalization of IBM, (ii) that Mr. Reck held a significant financial interest in our company (which is discussed in the sections entitled "The Merger—Interests of Merge Healthcare's Executive Officers and Directors in the Merger" and "Security Ownership of Executive Officers and Certain Beneficial Owners" beginning on pages 35 and 72) and was incentivized to maximize stockholder value and (iii) that Mr. Reck's financial interest in IBM was substantially smaller than his financial interest in our company. Mr. Reck then rejoined the meeting. After further review and discussion, our board of directors resolved to approve the merger agreement and related matters and resolved to recommend that our stockholders adopt the merger agreement, which is attached hereto as Annex A. Mr. Dearborn recused himself from the vote with respect to the merger agreement, because, earlier that day, he had reached agreement with IBM, at IBM's insistence, regarding his offer letter for post-closing employment by IBM. During the meeting of our board of directors, our compensation committee also met to consider the treatment of various outstanding stock options and shares of restricted stock in the merger agreement and unanimously resolved to approve the treatment of various outstanding options and shares of restricted stock contemplated by the merger agreement.
