Information to be included in the report

Item 8.01. Other Events

Commencing March 5, 2007, New York Stock Exchange, LLC (the "NYSE"), a wholly owned subsidiary of NYSE Group, Inc., will pass through fees associated with orders routed by the NYSE and executed by other market centers. For orders routed to other market centers, including NYSE Arca, the NYSE will charge a routing fee of $0.0025 per share, with no additional routing or transaction charges.

For transactions where a broker on the Exchange trading floor placed the related order, the transactions will be billed at the Exchange's regular equity transaction fee rate of $0.000275 per share.

This change is being made in conjunction with the NYSE's implementation of a new member firm transaction billing system. Under the prior billing system, member firms self reported transactions routed to other markets and remitted the corresponding fees to the NYSE. Under the new system, the NYSE will track the volume of orders routed to and executed on other market systems, and will bill firms by each individual market center on a month-end, trade-date basis.
