CHANGES TO GROUP DEFINED BENEFIT PENSION SCHEMES

Lloyds Banking Group has today announced a change to its defined benefit pension schemes. The Group has been reviewing its pension arrangements as part of a wider review of the pay, benefits and reward it offers to colleagues. As a result, and after consultation with affected colleagues and recognised Unions, the Group has decided to revise the current cap on the increases in pensionable pay used in calculating the pension benefit, from 2% to 0% with effect from 2 April 2014.

The Group believes that while the defined benefit schemes remain an important part of the employees' benefit package, the announced change represents the right balance between providing fairer pension benefits to all colleagues and managing the Group's capital and risk position.

The current estimated effect of the change is a one-off benefit of around £1bn to the Income Statement which would be recognised in the second quarter outside of underlying profit. The effect on the Group's capital position will depend on the funding position of the defined benefit schemes on 2 April 2014, and is expected to have a positive effect on the Group's capital ratios.

Notes to editors

The Group operates six defined benefit pension schemes with active members in the UK with total assets of £32.6bn as at 31 December 2013. Around one third of our colleagues (around 35,000) are earning pension benefits in these schemes which have been closed to new entrants for a number of years. The remaining two thirds of our colleagues are members of the Group's defined contribution scheme, 'Your Tomorrow'.
