INFORMATION CONCERNING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Certain of the statements contained in this report, and the exhibit attached hereto, including, without limitation statements as to management's good faith expectations and beliefs concerning future developments are forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of words such as believe, expect, plans, strategy, prospects, estimate, project, anticipate, intends and other similar words having that meaning. Forward-looking statements which are based on management's good faith expectations and beliefs concerning future developments and their potential effect upon the Company. There can be no assurance that future developments will be in accordance with management's good faith expectations or that the effect of future developments on the Company will be those anticipated by management. Actual results may differ materially from these expectations as a result of many factors including (i) pricing changes to materials used to produce products and the ability to offset those changes through price increases, (ii) changes in U.S. or international economic conditions, such as inflation and interest rate and exchange rate fluctuations, (iii) the actual level of construction activity in the Company's end-markets, (iv) periodic adjustments to accruals for contingent liabilities, including accruals associated with litigation matters, government investigations, asbestos liabilities and asbestos insurance recoveries, and (v) the amount and timing of operational consolidation expenses and gains or losses on asset sales and tax items. Additional factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from expectations are set forth in the Company's 2007 Annual Report on Form 10-K and in the Management's Discussion and Analysis section of the Company's Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q. In addition, there are risks and uncertainties relating to the sale of the Company to Ingersoll-Rand Company Limited, including the failure to obtain approval by the Company's shareholders or the failure to satisfy any of the other conditions to closing, costs relating to the proposed transaction, and disruption from the transaction making it more difficult to operate the business prior to closing of the transaction and to maintain relationships with customers, employees, distributors or suppliers. The Company does not undertake any obligation to update any forward-looking statements after the date on which such statements are made.
