DOCOMO Establishes Task Force to Improve Network Infrastructure

TOKYO, JAPAN, December 26, 2011 NTT DOCOMO, INC. announced today that, as of yesterday, it established a Task Force for Improvement of Network Infrastructure, headed by President and CEO Ryuji Yamada, in response to a malfunction of the company's sp-mode mail service for smartphones that occurred on December 20, 2011.

The company, once again apologizing deeply to customers for any inconvenience caused by the malfunction, is now taking steps to ensure that customers can use its network infrastructure with maximum ease.

1. Name of New Organization

Task Force for Improvement of Network Infrastructure

2. Purpose

To support the realization of a highly advanced network capable of responding to the rapid increase in smartphone users, the task force will lead all departments of the company in devising and implementing measures to stabilize network operations and upgrade network capabilities.

3. Structure

Head: President and CEO Ryuji Yamada

Deputy Head: Senior Executive Vice President Kiyoyuki Tsujimura

Members: All board members above executive vice president level, and heads of all relevant units

(Total: 38 people)

4. Key Measures

- a. To respond to rising traffic due to increased smartphones.
- b. To handle traffic bursts in emergencies.
- c. To strengthen connections between terminals, network facilities and sp-mode servers, etc.
- d. To reexamine capabilities of network facilities and sp-mode servers, etc.

e. To reexamine network-related procedures.

f. To standardize processes when terminals request reconnection following a communication failure.

5. Date of Establishment

December 25, 2011
