COMMISSION FILE NO. 001-32209

Explanatory Note: The following are talking points communicated to WellCare Health Plans, Inc. Managers

MANAGER TALKING POINTS

For WellCare Managers

As you have likely seen, today, WellCare announced that we are planning to combine with Centene. Like us, Centene, provides a portfolio of services primarily to government-sponsored healthcare programs.

I understand that we have always been the buyer in these transactions, so you may be wondering why we are taking this step now.

From a strategic perspective, we truly believe that this combination gives us a huge boost towards achieving our vision of becoming a leader in government-sponsored healthcare. Bringing these two companies together will allow us to further diversify our services and will create a multi-national healthcare enterprise.

Combining Centene's strengths with our own will allow us to better serve our members across a broad spectrum of government managed care.

Centene's broad geographic reach and international presence adds significant scale and breadth to WellCare's current footprint. Together, we will provide healthcare coverage to 22 million members in the U.S. across all 50 states making us a national leader in government-sponsored business.

Additionally, we are confident that Centene shares our mission, values and the same commitment to our partners.

We firmly believe there will be significant opportunities for personal and professional growth for WellCare employees as part of this larger organization.

I realize that this type of news can raise some uncertainty, but for now, we will continue operating as usual.

Until the transaction closes, we remain two separate companies and we must remain focused on our day-to-day responsibilities, and providing exceptional products and services to our valued members and partners.

There are no plans for widespread reporting changes at WellCare between now and the close.

Any changes that take place will be part of the integration planning, which will occur over the coming months and we will keep you informed as appropriate.

Michael Neidorff, CEO of Centene, will continue to run the combined company. WellCare CEO, Ken Burdick is expected to have an executive role along with others from the WellCare Executive Leadership Team.

This announcement is just the first step in the process of combining our two companies.

The transaction is subject to certain regulatory approvals and closing conditions, including a shareholder vote from both companies.

There will be many more details to come in the coming months as we get closer to an expected close.

We are committed to being as transparent as possible with you throughout this process and will update you as and when we have new information to share.

We expect the transaction to close by the first half of 2020.

Please keep in mind that you should not contact any Centene counterparties unless specifically instructed to do so. Given certain legal restrictions on communications during this period, you should refrain from engaging with Centene.

The combined company will leverage the best practices, tools and talent from the two companies to deliver improved and expanded solutions to our government partners, providers and, most importantly, to our members.

As an example of this, Centene, having recognized our strength in Medicare and PDP, will continue supporting substantial operations in WellCare's home state of Florida.

Should you have any questions, please feel free to speak with me.

You can also find additional information about the transaction on the intranet.

This announcement is likely to generate some interest from the media. Please direct all media inquiries and requests to Kimbrel Arculeo at kimbrel.arculeo@WellCare.com.

By their nature, forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties and are subject to change because they relate to events and depend on circumstances that will occur in the future, including economic, regulatory, competitive and other factors that may cause our or our industry's actual results, levels of activity, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. These statements are not guarantees of future performance and are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions.

All forward-looking statements included in this filing are based on information available to us on the date of this communication. Except as may be otherwise required by law, we undertake no obligation to update or revise the forward-looking statements included in this communication, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, after the date of this filing. You should not place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements, as actual results may differ materially from projections, estimates, or other forward-looking statements due to a variety of important factors, variables and events including, but not limited to, the following: (i) the risk that regulatory or other approvals required for the Centene Transaction may be delayed or not obtained or are obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated that could require the exertion of management's time and our resources or otherwise have an adverse effect on WellCare; (ii) the risk that Centene's stockholders do not approve the issuance of shares of Centene common stock in the Centene Transaction; (iii) the risk that WellCare's stockholders do not adopt the merger agreement; (iv) the possibility that certain conditions to the consummation of the Centene Transaction will not be satisfied or completed on a timely basis and accordingly the Centene Transaction may not be consummated on a timely basis or at all; (v) uncertainty as to the expected financial performance of the combined company following completion of the Centene Transaction; (vi) the possibility that the expected synergies and value creation from the Centene Transaction will not be realized, or will not be realized within the expected time period; (vii) the exertion of management's time and our resources, and other expenses incurred and business changes required, in connection with complying with the undertakings in connection with any regulatory, governmental or third party consents or approvals for the Centene Transaction; (viii) the risk that unexpected costs will be incurred in connection with the completion and/or integration of the Centene Transaction or that the integration of WellCare will be more difficult or time consuming than expected; (ix) the risk that potential litigation in connection with the Centene Transaction may affect the timing or occurrence of the Centene Transaction or result in significant costs of defense, indemnification and liability; (x) a downgrade of the credit rating of WellCare's indebtedness, which could give rise to an obligation to redeem existing indebtedness; (xi) unexpected costs, charges or expenses resulting from the Centene Transaction; (xii) the possibility that competing offers will be made to acquire Centene; (xiii) the inability to retain key personnel; (xiv) disruption from the announcement, pendency and/or completion of the Centene Transaction, including potential adverse reactions or changes to business relationships with customers, employees, suppliers or regulators, making it more difficult to maintain business and operational relationships; and (xv) the risk that, following the Centene Transaction, the combined company may not be able to effectively manage its expanded operations.

Additional factors that may cause actual results to differ materially from projections, estimates, or other forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, the following: (i) WellCare's progress on top priorities such as integrating care management, advocating for our members, building advanced relationships with providers and government partners, ensuring a competitive cost position, and delivering prudent, profitable growth, (ii) WellCare's ability to effectively identify, estimate and manage growth, (iii) the ability to achieve accretion to WellCare's earnings, revenues or other benefits expected, (iv) disruption to business relationships, operating results, and business generally of WellCare, (v) potential reductions in Medicaid and Medicare revenue, (vi) WellCare's ability to estimate and manage medical benefits expense effectively, including through its vendors, (vii) WellCare's ability to negotiate actuarially sound rates, especially in new programs with limited experience, (viii) WellCare's ability to improve healthcare quality and access, (ix) the appropriation and payment by state governments of Medicaid premiums receivable, (x) the outcome of any protests and litigation related to Medicaid awards, (xi) the approval of Medicaid contracts by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, (xii) any changes to the programs or contracts, (xiii) WellCare's ability to address operational challenges related to new business and (xiv) WellCare's ability to meet the requirements of readiness reviews.

This list of important factors is not intended to be exhaustive. We discuss certain of these matters more fully, as well as certain other factors that may affect our business operations, financial condition and results of operations, in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), including our Annual Report on Form 10-K, quarterly reports on Form 10-Q and current reports on Form 8-K.
