ANGLOGOLD ASHANTI ANNOUNCES OPERATIONAL MANAGEMENT RESTRUCTURE AND CHANGE TO THE BOARD

In developing a strategy that places renewed emphasis on safety, productivity improvement and enhanced shareholder value, new CEO Mark Cutifani has initiated a management restructuring in which operational reporting will be brought one step closer to the CEO. The company will be moving to a regional operating structure in which there will be three operating heads reporting directly to the CEO, resulting in the Chief Operating Officer structure being redundant with immediate effect.

As a consequence of these changes and reflecting his own desire to pursue other opportunities, Neville Nicolau has advised the company of his intention to leave AngloGold Ashanti.

Cutifani commented, "We wish Neville well on his chosen path and we all join in thanking him for 29 years of dedicated and distinguished service, initially with Anglo American and then with AngloGold Ashanti since the formation of the company."

Further announcements regarding structure and appointments will be made in due course.
