The Company expects net cash provided by operating activities and EBITDA to be $101.0 million and $143.4 million, respectively, in fiscal year 2005 and $90.0 million and $166.7 million, respectively, in fiscal year 2006 using the midpoint of the projected diluted earnings per share range as described above.

	=====	=====

EBITDA is defined by the Company as net earnings before income taxes, interest and depreciation and amortization. The Company believes EBITDA is a useful supplement to net cash provided by operating activities in understanding cash flows generated from operations that are available for debt service costs, income taxes and other working capital needs, in addition to cash available for capital expenditures and other investing activities. EBITDA does not represent net cash provided by operating activities as defined by generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, EBITDA should not be construed as an alternative to net cash provided by operating activities or other measures as determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles as a measure of the Company's liquidity. The Company's definition of EBITDA may differ from the definition of EBITDA used by other companies and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.
