Synovus To Acquire First American Bank of Pensacola
Banking company will merge with Bank of Pensacola

Columbus, Ga., June 29, 2001-- Synovus Financial Corp. (NYSE: "SNV") has announced it will acquire FABP Bancshares, Inc. (FABP), of Pensacola, Fla., and merge the company's subsidiary bank with the Bank of Pensacola, a Synovus affiliate bank. FABP is a one-bank holding company that owns First American Bank of Pensacola, N.A., Pensacola's largest independent bank with $302 million in assets.

The merger will more than double the size of the Bank of Pensacola, giving the combined company $583 million in assets. Bank of Pensacola is expected to be the largest community bank in northwest Florida. Chartered as a state bank in 1972, Bank of Pensacola joined the Synovus family of companies in 1990.

The acquisition, valued at approximately $100 million, is expected to be final in the fourth quarter of 2001, pending regulatory and shareholder approval. Directors for FABP Bancshares, representing about 70 percent of the company's shares, approved the merger agreement on June 28. Synovus will account for the acquisition using the pooling of interests method. FABP shareholders will receive between 1.9428 and 2.2582 Synovus shares for each share of FABP common stock they hold, with the exact exchange ratio to be based upon Synovus' stock price. The transaction is expected to be accretive to Synovus in 2001. FABP reported net income of $4.55 million in 2000.

"This acquisition perfectly suits our expansion strategy, doubling our size in one of Florida's premier communities," said James H. Blanchard, chairman and CEO of Synovus Financial Corp. "It's a pleasure to welcome our newest team members to the Synovus family. They will insure that our customers in Pensacola will continue to enjoy exceptional personal service. We expect this merger to add value for shareholders of both companies."

W. Luther Taylor, chairman and CEO of the Synovus affiliate, Bank of Pensacola, will continue to serve as chairman and CEO of the combined company. Thomas B. "Bo" Carter, chairman of FABP Bancshares and one of the company's original investors, will serve as president of the combined company.

The greater Pensacola area includes several Florida counties, with a regional
