CGI acquires Apex Consulting Group Inc., a Boston-based technology firm

Andover, Massachusetts, October 28, 2003 CGI Group Inc. (CGI) (TSX: GIB.A; NYSE: GIB) announced today that it has completed the acquisition of Boston-based Apex Consulting Group Inc. (Apex) with revenues of US$4.0 million. The company was purchased for cash and shares. Apex is a business services, systems integration and consulting company with a focus on business process improvement and new technologies. Specializations include order entry/processing optimization, customer relationship management, Microsoft .Net and J2EE architecture and development, and IS management support.

Established in 1996, privately-held Apex currently employs 22 senior-level consultants who serve clients mostly in the retail, utility and financial services sectors. Clients include many significant New England companies, such as the two largest financial services firms, the largest defence firm in Massachusetts as well as National Grid, NEBS and Sovereign Bank. Apex is also the founder and primary sponsor of the New England Java Users Group (NEJUG), which is one of the largest Java user groups in the world, with over 2,600 members.

We were at the stage in our growth whereby we wanted to bid for bigger and broader opportunities. Our clients were asking us to provide them with more services through a global delivery model. To do so, we sought a partner with whom we could grow. Not only do our services blend well with CGI's offering but they have operations in Canada and India. Now we can go back to our clients and add to what we are currently offering," said Steve Maienza, founder and president of Apex. Tom Stephanian, executive vice-president, added, "In addition to being able to offer more extensive solutions to our clients, we're looking forward to offering our business process improvement and architecture solutions to CGI's clients.

Joseph Saliba, president, USA and Asia Pacific for CGI added: "We are very pleased to welcome our new colleagues to CGI. Apex possesses an outstanding client list based on its solid reputation of delivering concrete results via its component-based approach to project methodology. With this acquisition, not only are we adding to our team of experts but we also have the opportunity of building deeper relationships with their existing clients.

CGI's Greater Boston operations are mostly dedicated to clients in the financial services sector. CGI's extensive experience in offering end-to-
