Competition

The banking business, in all of its phases, is highly competitive. Within their service areas, Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company and the Community Banks compete with commercial banks (including local banks and branches or affiliates of other larger banks), savings and loan associations and credit unions for loans and deposits, and with insurance companies and other financial institutions for various types of loans. There is also competition for commercial and retail banking business from banks and financial institutions located outside our service areas. Interstate banking is now an established part of the competitive environment.

Mercshares is the largest independent bank holding company headquartered in Maryland. Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company is the eighth largest commercial bank in the state. During 2001, Mercshares also competed with Maryland-based bank subsidiaries of the second, third, eleventh and sixteenth largest bank holding companies in the United States as well as banking subsidiaries of other non-Maryland bank holding companies. Measured in terms of assets under investment supervision, Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company believes it is one of the largest trust institutions in the southeastern

Edgar Filing: MERCANTILE BANKSHARES CORP - Form 10-K

United States. Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company competes for various classes of fiduciary and investment advisory business with other banks and trust companies, insurance companies, investment counseling firms, mutual funds and others.

Mercantile Mortgage Corporation is one of many competitors in its area of activity. MBC Agency, Inc. is limited to providing credit life, health and accident insurance in connection with credit extended by the Affiliated Banks. Hopkins Plaza Agency, Inc. and MBC Leasing Corp. commenced business in 1996 and are small competitors in their areas of activity.

The 20 Community Banks ranged in asset size from $48 million to $748 million, at December 31, 2001. They face competition in their own local service areas as well as from the larger competitors mentioned above.

The enactment of recent federal legislation governing the financial services industry, discussed below, may have the effect of increasing competition among banks and other financial institutions.

Supervision and Regulation

Mercshares

Mercshares, as a registered bank holding company, is subject to regulation and examination by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (the "Act") and is required to file with the Board of Governors quarterly and annual reports and such additional information as the Board of Governors may require pursuant to the Act. With various exceptions, Mercshares is prohibited from acquiring direct or indirect ownership or control of more than 5% of any class of the voting shares of any company which is not a bank or bank holding company and from engaging in any business other than that of banking or of managing or controlling banks or of furnishing services to, or performing services for, its Affiliated Banks. The Act and Regulations promulgated under the Act require prior approval of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System of the acquisition by Mercshares of more than 5% of any class of the voting shares of any additional bank.

Further, under Section 106 of the 1970 Amendments to the Act and the Board's Regulations, bank subsidiaries of bank holding companies are limited in engaging in certain tie-in arrangements with bank holding companies and their non-bank subsidiaries in connection with any extension of credit or provision of any property or services, subject to various exceptions.

The Act, generally, has restricted activities of bank holding companies and their subsidiaries to banking, and the business of managing and controlling banks, and to other activities which have been determined by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to be so closely related to banking or managing or controlling banks as to be a proper incident thereto. Mercshares has also been subject to certain restrictions with respect to engaging in the securities business.

Edgar Filing: MERCANTILE BANKSHARES CORP - Form 10-K

It is Federal Reserve Policy that a bank holding company should serve as a source of financial and managerial strength for and commit resources to support each of its subsidiary banks even in circumstances in which it might not do so (or may not legally be required or financially able to do so) absent such a policy.

Changes in control of Mercshares and its Affiliated Banks are regulated under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, the Change in Bank Control Act of 1978 and various state laws.

Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act

The enactment in November, 1999 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act ("GLB Act"), represents the culmination of years of effort to repeal the provisions in the Banking Act of 1933 (generally known as "Glass Steagall") and restrictions in the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 that, respectively, limited affiliations among, and overlapping business activities in, the banking, securities and insurance industries. Broadly speaking, through the establishment of a regulatory structure that permits a bank holding company to elect "financial holding company" status, the GLB Act will permit, within a holding company system, a full range of banking, securities and insurance activities, including securities and insurance underwriting, as well as, with certain restrictions, merchant banking activities. The election is only available to bank holding companies whose bank and thrift subsidiaries are well capitalized, well managed, and have satisfactory Community Reinvestment Act ratings. With exceptions for insurance underwriting, merchant banking and real estate investment and development, the GLB Act would also permit comparable expansion of national bank activities by banks meeting similar criteria, together with certain additional firewall and other requirements, through "financial subsidiaries" of national banks. Similarly, as a matter of Federal law, but still subject to State law, the GLB Act greatly expands the potential financial activities of subsidiaries of State banks.

If Mercshares were to elect financial holding company status under the GLB Act, it would be permitted to engage in the full range of securities and insurance activities authorized by the GLB Act, including securities and insurance underwriting, as well as certain permitted merchant banking activities.

The GLB Act is also intended to ensure that banking activities are regulated by bank regulators, securities activities are regulated by securities law regulators, and insurance activities are regulated by insurance regulators. In other words, it is intended to incorporate a system of functional regulation, although it retains the role of the Federal Reserve Board as the umbrella supervisor for holding companies. Consequently, various securities activities of banks will become subject to regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission when the Commission fully implements that authority.

With respect to the functional regulation goal of the GLB Act, various provisions are causing or will cause banks to "push out" those securities activities that have now become subject to Securities and Exchange Commission regulation into separate securities subsidiaries or affiliates. Defined traditional banking activities, which include most of Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company's current Investment Management and Trust Division activities should not trigger Securities and Exchange Commission regulation or the so-called "push-out" process. However, Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company has formed two new subsidiaries to engage in securities activities. Mercantile Capital Advisors, Inc. has registered with the SEC as an investment adviser to serve the M.S.D.&T. family of mutual funds and certain other institutional accounts. Hopkins Plaza Securities, Inc. has registered with the SEC as a broker-dealer to facilitate the purchase of shares of these mutual funds by bank customers and certain other potential activities.

Provisions of the GLB Act require and anticipate extensive new regulations, many of which have already been promulgated or proposed.

It is not yet clear whether the GLB Act and the implementation of functional regulation will have a material effect on the operations of Mercshares and its affiliates.

Affiliated Banks

All Affiliated Banks, with the exception of The Citizens National Bank, Baltimore Trust Company, Farmers & Merchants Bank - Eastern Shore, The First National Bank of St. Mary's, The National Bank of Fredericksburg and Marshall National Bank and Trust Company are Maryland banks, subject to the banking laws of Maryland and to regulation by the Commissioner of Financial Regulation of Maryland, who is required by statute to make at least one examination in each calendar year (or at 18-month intervals if the Commissioner determines that an examination is unnecessary in a particular calendar year). Their deposits are insured by, and they are subject to certain provisions of Federal law and regulations and examination by, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

In addition, The Annapolis Banking and Trust Company, The Forest Hill State Bank and St. Michaels Bank are members of the Federal Reserve System, and are thereby subject to regulation by the Board of Governors of that System.

The Citizens National Bank, The First National Bank of St. Mary's, The National Bank of Fredericksburg and Marshall National Bank and Trust Company are national banks subject to regulation and regular examination by the Comptroller of the Currency in addition to regulation and examination by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which insures their deposits.

Farmers & Merchants Bank - Eastern Shore is a Virginia bank, subject to the banking laws of Virginia and to regulation by its State Corporation Commission, which is required by statute to make at least one examination in every three year period. Its deposits are insured by, and it is subject to certain provisions of Federal law and regulation and examination by, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Baltimore Trust Company is a Delaware bank, subject to the banking laws of Delaware and to regulation by the Delaware State Bank Commissioner, who is required by statute to make periodic examinations. Its deposits are insured by, and it is subject to certain provisions of Federal law and regulation and examination by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Mercshares and its Affiliates are subject to the provisions of Section 23A of the Federal Reserve Act which limit the amount of loans or extensions of credit to, and investments in, Mercshares and its nonbanking Affiliates by the Affiliated Banks, and Section 23B of the Federal Reserve Act which requires that transactions between the Affiliated Banks and Mercshares and its nonbanking Affiliates be on terms and under circumstances that are substantially the same as with non-affiliates. Under the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989, there are circumstances under which Affiliated Banks could be responsible to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for losses incurred by it with respect to other Affiliated Banks.

Other Affiliates

As affiliates of Mercshares, the nonbanking Affiliates are subject to examination by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and, as affiliates of the Affiliated Banks, they are subject to examination by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Commissioner of Financial Regulation of Maryland. In addition, MBC Agency, Inc., Mercantile Life Insurance Company and Hopkins Plaza Agency, Inc. are subject to licensing and regulation by state insurance authorities. Mercantile Capital Advisors, Inc. and Hopkins Plaza Securities, Inc. are subject to regulation by the SEC and state securities law authorities, and Hopkins Plaza Securities, Inc. is also subject to regulation by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.

Effects of Monetary Policy

All commercial banking operations are affected by the Federal Reserve System's conduct of monetary policy and its policies change from time to time based on changing circumstances. A function of the Federal Reserve System is to regulate the national supply of bank credit in order to achieve economic results deemed appropriate by its Board of Governors, including efforts to combat unemployment, recession or inflationary pressures. Among the instruments of monetary policy used to implement these objectives are open market operations in the purchase and sale of U.S. Government securities, changes in the discount rate charged on bank borrowings and changes in reserve requirements against bank deposits. These means are used in varying combinations to influence the general level of interest rates and the general availability of credit. More specifically, actions by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve influence the levels of interest rates paid on deposits and other bank funding sources and charged on bank loans as well as the level of availability of bank funds with which loans and investments can be made.
