Basis of Presentation

The condensed consolidated financial statements include the financial statements of ACL Semiconductors Inc. and its subsidiaries, Atlantic Components Ltd. and Alpha Perform Technology Limited (collectively, "ACL" or the "Company"). The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-Q and do not include all of the information and footnotes required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for complete consolidated financial statements. These condensed consolidated financial statements and related notes should be read in conjunction with the Company's audited financial statements for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2006, 2005 and 2004 filed in the Form 10-K filed by the Company on April 17, 2007. In the opinion of management, these condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments which are of a normal recurring nature and which are necessary to present fairly the consolidated financial position of ACL as of March 31, 2007 and December 31, 2006, and the results of operations for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 and the cash flows for the three month-month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006. The results of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2007 are not necessarily indicative of the results which may be expected for the entire fiscal year. All significant intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated in preparation of the condensed consolidated financial statements.

Nature of Business Operations

ACL Semiconductors Inc. ("Company" or "ACL") was incorporated under the State of Delaware on September 17, 2002. Through a reverse-acquisition of Atlantic Components Ltd., a Hong Kong based company, effective September 30, 2003, the Company's principal activities are distribution of electronic components under the "Samsung" brandname which comprise DRAM and graphic RAM, FLASH, SRAM and MASK ROM for the Hong Kong and Southern China markets. Atlantic Components Ltd., its wholly owned subsidiary, was incorporated in Hong Kong on May 30, 1991 with limited liability. On October 2, 2003, the Company set up a wholly-owned subsidiary, Alpha Perform Technology Limited ("Alpha"), a British Virgin Islands company, to provide services on behalf of the Company in jurisdictions outside of Hong Kong. Effective January 1, 2004, the Company has ceased the operations of Alpha and all the related activities are consolidated with those of Atlantic.

Provisions for discounts to customers, estimated returns and allowances and other price adjustments are provided for in the same periods the related revenue is recorded which are deducted from the gross sales.

Currency Reporting

Amounts reported in the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements and disclosures are stated in U.S. Dollars, unless stated otherwise. The functional currency of the Company's subsidiaries, which accounted for most of the Company's operations, is reported in Hong Kong dollars ("HKD"). Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the balance sheet dates are translated into HKD at period-end exchange rates.

For the purpose of preparing these consolidated financial statements, the financial statements of ACL reported in HKD have been translated into U.S. Dollars at US$1.00=HKD7.8, a fixed exchange rate maintained between the United States and China.

2. Earnings Per Common Share

In September 2006, the SEC released Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 108, "Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements." SAB 108 provides interpretive guidance on the SEC's views regarding the process of quantifying materiality of financial statement misstatements. SAB 108 is effective for fiscal years ending after November 15, 2006, with early application for the first interim period ending after November 15, 2006. The Company does not expect the adoption of SAB 108 will have a material impact on its financial position or results of operations.

In September 2006, the FASB issued Statement No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements." SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework and gives guidance regarding the methods used for measuring fair value, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007, and interim periods within those fiscal years. The Company is evaluating the impact of this new pronouncement to its financial position and results of operations or cash flows.

In September 2006, the FASB issued Statement No. 158, "Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans, an amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106, and 132(R)." SFAS 158 requires companies to recognize the overfunded or underfunded status of a defined benefit post-retirement plan as an asset or liability in its balance sheet and to recognize changes in that funded status in the year in which the changes occur through comprehensive income, effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2006. SFAS 158 also requires companies to measure the funded status of the plan as of the date of its fiscal year-end, with limited exceptions, effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2008. The Company does not expect the adoption of SFAS 158 will have a material impact on our financial position or results of operations, as the Company does not currently have any defined benefit pension or other post-retirement plans.

Overview

Corporate Background

The Company, through its wholly-owned subsidiaries Atlantic Components Limited, a Hong Kong corporation ("Atlantic") is engaged primarily in the business of distribution of memory products under "Samsung" brandname which principally comprise DRAM and Graphic RAM, FLASH, SRAM and MASK ROM for the Hong Kong and Southern China markets. The Company's wholly-owned subsidiary, Alpha Perform Technology Limited ("Alpha"), which previously engaged in this business, ceased activities as of January 1, 2004, when its operations were consolidated with those of Atlantic.

As of March 31, 2007, ACL had more than 120 active customers in Hong Kong and Southern China.

ACL is in the mature stage of operations. As a result, the relationships between sales, cost of sales, and operating expenses reflected in the financial information included in this document to a large extent represent future expected financial relationships. Much of the cost of sales and operating expenses reflected in our financial statements are recurring in nature.

Critical Accounting Policies

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) recently issued Financial Reporting Release No. 60, Cautionary Advice Regarding Disclosure About Critical Accounting Policies (FRR 60), suggesting companies provide additional disclosure and commentary on their most critical accounting policies. In FRR 60, the SEC defined the most critical accounting policies as the ones that are most important to the portrayal of a company's financial condition and operating results, and require management to make its most difficult and subjective judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates of matters that are inherently uncertain. Based on this definition, ACL's most critical accounting policies include: inventory valuation, which affects cost of sales and gross margin; policies for revenue recognition, allowance for doubtful accounts, and stock-based compensation. The methods, estimates and judgments ACL uses in applying these most critical accounting policies have a significant impact on the results ACL reports in its consolidated financial statements.

Inventory Valuation. Our policy is to value inventories at the lower of cost or market on a part-by-part basis. This policy requires us to make estimates regarding the market value of our inventories, including an assessment of excess or obsolete inventories. We determine excess and obsolete inventories based on an estimate of the future demand for our products within a specified time horizon, generally 12 months. The estimates we use for demand are also used for near-term capacity planning and inventory purchasing and are consistent with our revenue forecasts. If our demand forecast is greater than our actual demand we may be required to take additional excess inventory charges, which will decrease gross margin and net operating results in the future.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts. ACL maintains an allowance for doubtful accounts for estimated losses resulting from the inability of ACL's customers to make required payments. ACL's allowance for doubtful accounts is based on ACL's assessment of the collectibility of specific customer accounts, the aging of accounts receivable, ACL's history of bad debts, and the general condition of the industry. If a major customer's credit worthiness deteriorates, or ACL's customers' actual defaults exceed ACL's historical experience, ACL's estimates could change and impact ACL's reported results.

The following table presents the Company's contractual obligations as of March 31, 2007 over the next five years and thereafter:

Accounting Principles; Anticipated Effect of Growth

Below is a brief description of basic accounting principles which the Company has adopted in determining its recognition of sales and expenses, as well as a brief description of the effects that the Company believes its anticipated growth will have on the Company's sales and expenses in the next 12 months.

Net sales

Sales from Samsung HK are recognized upon the transfer of legal title of the electronic components to the customers. The quantities of memory products the Company sells fluctuate with changes in demand from its customers. The prices set by Samsung HK that the Company must charge its customers are expected to fluctuate as a result of prevailing economic conditions and their impact on the market.

Sale for the quarter ended March 31, 2007 (2007 1st Quarter) increased 9% compared to the quarter ended December 31, 2006 and 27% compared to the quarter ended March 31, 2006. The gross profit margin for the Company during 2007 1st Quarter was 2.77%, compared to a 3.78% for the corresponding quarter in 2006.

The Company's gross profit for 2007 1st Quarter was $887,229, as compared to $950,937 for the quarter ended March 31, 2006, representing a 7.0% decrease. This decrease was primarily attributable to a reduction by Samsung HK in 2007 1st Quarter of the sales commission paid by Samsung HK to its agents (including the Company) from 2.4% to 1.8%, a 25% decrease. The Company was able to significantly offset the impact of such reduction on its gross margin by negotiating several short to medium-term supply contracts with OEM factories in Hong Kong and South China, which resulted in a higher turnover for 2007 1st Quarter compared to the quarter ended December 31, 2006, which is uncommon for a traditional slow season.

Although the Company's sales for 2007 1st Quarter remained strong, the overall PC market lagged behind analysts' forecasts during such period, with especially weak demand for DDR modules. The launch of Windows Vista operating system in early 2007 did not result in a wave of upgrading in PC system as originally expected. While the largest PC manufacturers have been offering a wide range of desktop and laptop models embedded with Windows Vista for retail channels, in the clone market, which is the prime target market of the Company, there was not a significant increase in demand for larger capacity DDR modules which are required for a Windows Vista compliant system. The Company believes this is due to the fairly expensive price of the larger capacity DDR module and the high request on VGA card if a PC system needed to be Vista compliant. On the other hand, many DRAM manufacturers shifted their production line from Flash to produce more DRAM following a Flash price slump in 2006, which resulted in a much greater supply of DRAM in 2007 1st Quarter. As a direct result, Samsung's market share of the DRAM module market was at its lowest level in 7 years in 2007 1st Quarter, with Samsung's sales volume for DRAM dropping 22%, only slightly ahead of No. 2 Hynix.

In contrast to the market for DDR modules which experienced 45%-50% unit price drop through 2007 1st Quarter, the market for VGA DDR chips was much better. In 2007 1st Quarter, the Company secured several large contracts with large VGA card OEM factories, resulting in sales of approximately 5,000 DDR chips during such quarter, principally to both the Nvidia manufacturer as well as to the newer ATI manufacturer.

The unit price of Flash components experienced a continuing drop of more than 50% at the beginning of 2007 1st Quarter, however, towards the end of 2007 1st Quarter, there was a market shortage of Flash components and the earlier losses attributable to the price drop were recovered. This increase in demand and price was due largely to a market rumor of a major Flash contract between Samsung and Apple regarding its iPod series. The increase in demand for Flash memory was also attributable to the new launch of MP3/MP4 players with larger capacity builtin memory (up to 4GB) which became more common from manufacturers such as Samsung, Sony and Creative etc. The overall MP3 market in 2007 1st Quarter appeared to have revived from the last 2 years of slowdown, with much more demand after the Chinese New Year from Chinese MP3 factories. As a result of these market forces, the Company's overall sales volume of Flash component was able to reach 900,000 pieces.

Cost of sales

Cost of sales consists of costs of goods purchased from Samsung HK, and purchases from other Samsung authorized distributors. Many factors affect the Company's gross margin, including, but not limited to, the volume of production orders placed on behalf of its customers, the competitiveness of the memory products industry and the availability of cheaper Samsung memory products from overseas Samsung distributors due to regional demand and supply situations. Nevertheless, the Company's procurement operations are supported by Samsung HK, although there is no written long-term supply agreement in place between Atlantic and Samsung HK.

Operating expenses

The Company's operating expenses for the three months ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 were comprised of sales and marketing and general and administrative expenses only.

Sales and marketing expenses consisted primarily of and external commissions paid to external sales personnel and costs associated with advertising and marketing activities.

General and administrative expenses include all corporate and administrative functions that serve to support the Company's current and future operations and provide an infrastructure to support future growth. Major items in this category include management and staff salaries, rent/leases, professional services, and travel and entertainment. The Company expects these expenses to increase as a result of increased legal and accounting fees anticipated in connection with the Company's compliance with ongoing reporting and accounting requirements of the Securities and Exchange Commission and as a result of anticipated expansion by the Company of its business operations. Sales and marketing expenses are expected to fluctuate as a percentage of sales due to the addition of sales personnel and various marketing activities planned throughout the year.

Interest expense, including finance charges, relates primarily to Atlantic's short-term and long-term bank borrowings, which the Company intends to reduce.

Results of Operations

The following table sets forth unaudited statements of operations data for the three months ended March 31, 2007 and 2006 and should be read in conjunction with the "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and the Company's financial statements and the related notes appearing elsewhere in this document.

Unaudited Three Months Ended March 31, 2007 Compared to the Three Months Ended March 31, 2006

Net sales

Sales increased by $6,859,714 or 27.2% from $25,175,653 in the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $32,035,367 in the three months ended March 31, 2007. The increase was mainly due to increased sales to OEM factories in Hong Kong and South China areas, resulting in a higher turnover when compared to the three months ended March 31, 2006.

Cost of sales

Cost of sales increased by $6,923,422, or 28.6%, from $24,224,716 for the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $31,148,138 for the three months ended March 31, 2007. The increase in cost of sales is in proportion to the increase in net sales stated above. As a percentage of sales, cost of sales increased to 97.2% of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2007 from 96.2% of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2006, which is principally attributable to Samsung's reduction of its commission from 2.4% to 1.8%, a 25% decrease which it affected the company's profitability.

Gross profit

Gross profit decreased by $63,708 or 6.7%, from $950,937 for the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $887,229 for the three months ended March 31, 2007. The decrease in gross profits resulted primarily from the decrease in gross profit margin to 2.8% of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2007 compared to 3.8% of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2006, as a result of Samsung HK's reduction of the sales commission it pays its agents by 0.6%, with effect from the first quarter of 2007.

Operating expenses

Sales and marketing expenses decreased by $196,733 or 91.8%, from $214,200 for the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $17,467 for the three months ended March 31, 2007. This decrease was principally attributable to the sales commission expenses incurred for the first quarter of 2007.

General and administrative expenses increased $141,354 or 30.8% from $459,087 in the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $600,441 in the three months ended March 31, 2007. This increase was principally attributable to an increase in depreciation, director's remuneration and salary expenses.

Income from operations for the Company was $269,321 for the three months ended March 31, 2007 compared to income of $277,650 for the three months ended March 31, 2006, representing a decrease of income by $8,329 or 3%. This decrease was the result of decrease of gross profit during the first quarter of 2007.

Other income (expenses)

Interest expense increased by $76,734, or 49.6%, from $154,832 in the three months ended March 31, 2006, to $231,556 in the three months ended March 31, 2007. This increase was mainly due to an increase in the Company's need to open and draw down on letters of credits to obtain goods from its suppliers. We expect our interest expense will increase significantly in 2007 because of increase in bank lines of credit and loan facilities.

The Company's net income decreased by $47,929 or 42.1% from $113,779 for the three months ended March 31, 2006 to a net income of $65,850 for the three months ended March 31, 2007, primarily due to the decrease in gross profit during the first quarter of 2007.

Income tax

Income tax decreased by $17,895 or 56.1% from $31,893 for the three months ended March 31, 2006 to $16,998 for the three months ended March 31, 2007, primarily due to the decrease in net income during the first quarter of 2007.

Liquidity and capital resources

The Company's principal sources of liquidity have historically been cash provided by operations, bank lines of credit and credit terms from suppliers. The Company's principal uses of cash have been for operations and working capital. The Company anticipates these uses will continue to be its principal uses of cash in the future.

The Company may require additional financing in order to finance its growing business and implement its business plan. In order to meet anticipated demand for Samsung's memory products in the Southern China market over the next 12 months, the Company has borrowed $1.7 million in short-term borrowings from banks to finance the cash flow required to finance the purchase of Samsung memory products from Samsung HK one day in advance of the release of goods from Samsung HK's warehouse before receiving payments from customers upon physical delivery of such goods in Hong Kong which, in most instances, takes approximately two days from the date of such delivery. In certain limited instances, customers of Atlantic are permitted up to thirty (30) days to make payment for purchased memory products. As the anticipated cash generated by the Company's operations are insufficient to fund its growth requirements, it will need to obtain additional funds. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain the necessary additional capital on a timely basis or on acceptable terms, if at all. The Company's business growth and prospects would be materially and adversely affected. As a result of any such financing, if it is an equity financing, the holders of the Company's common stock may experience substantial dilution. In addition, as its results may be negatively impacted and thus delayed as a result of political and economic factors beyond the management's control, the Company's capital requirements may increase.

The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ from those expected caused by: pricing pressures in the industry; a downturn in the economy in general or in the memory products sector; an unexpected decrease in demand for Samsung's memory products; a decrease in its ability to attract new customers; an increase in competition in the memory products market; and the ability our customers to obtain financing. These factors or additional risks and uncertainties not known to ACL or that it currently deems immaterial may impair business operations and may cause ACL's actual results to differ materially from any forward-looking statement.

Although we believe our expectations of future growth are reasonable, we cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements. We are under no duty to update its expectation after the date of this report to conform them to actual results or to reflect changes in expectations.

In the three months ended March 31, 2007, net cash provided by operating activities was $1,155,086 while in the three months ended March 31, 2006, ACL used net cash of $2,285,556 in operating activities, an increase of $3,440,642. This increase was primarily due to an increase of accounts payable.

In the three months ended March 31, 2007, net cash used for $2,508,759 in investing activities while in the three months ended March 31, 2006, ACL used for $640,418 in investing activities, an increase in cash used of $1,868,341. This increase was primarily due to the restricted cash and securities held by the bank as collateral for borrowings.

In the three months ended March 31, 2007, net cash provided by financing activities was $1,229,900 while in the three months ended March 31, 2006, net cash Aprovided by financing activities was $1,324,015, a decrease of $94,115.

An essential element of the Company's growth in the future will be to obtain adequate additional working capital to meet anticipated market demand from PC users (business and personal) in the southern part of China.

ITEM 3: QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

ACL is exposed to market risk for changes in interest rates as its bank borrowings accrue interest at floating rates of 0.25% to 0.5% over the Best Lending Rate (currently at the range of 8.0 to 8.25% per annum) prevailing in Hong Kong. For the three months ended March 31, 2007 and the three months ended March 31, 2006, Atlantic did not generate any material interest income (expense). Accordingly, ACL believes that changes in interest rates will not have a material effect on its liquidity, financial condition or results of operations.

Impact of Inflation

ACL believes that its results of operations are not significantly impacted by moderate changes in inflation rates as it expects it will be able to pass these costs by component price increases to its customers.

Seasonality

ACL has not experienced any material seasonality in sales fluctuations over the past 2 years in the memory products markets.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES
