PRESS RELEASE

Milan, 3 December 2007 With regard to the article entitled "Il lato oscuro del caso Telecom" ( "The dark side of the Telecom case" ) signed by Giovanni Valentini, which appeared in daily newspaper La Repubblica on 1 December 2007, Telecom Italia S.p.A. wishes to state that:

•

the first statement presented by the Company to judicial authorities on the matter, involving the company's Security division and its former chief, was dated June 2006 (and therefore more than 3 months prior to the cautionary measures taken by judicial authorities); in the following months, and again recently, the Company presented other statements, through which the judicial authorities were made aware of facts and circumstances which emerged during the process of auditing and control effected by the company itself beginning from January 2006, and also supported by a leading consultancy; the judicial authorities which always corroborated the content of the statements were always given the maximum cooperation, both in terms of information and access to documents.

In this context, it seems removed from reality to accuse the Company, its bodies and management, which up to now have constantly made themselves available to the judicial authorities, of non-transparent behaviour or of pursuing ends other than those of faithful cooperation with the activities of the judicial authorities.

Telecom Italia S.p.A. has total confidence in the work of the Magistracy and is confident that the findings of the investigations, which are still underway, will demonstrate that the many conjectural accusations against the Company, its bodies and its management are unfounded.

Telecom Italia S.p.A. reserves the right to defend its image, and that of its bodies and management.

Cautionary Statement for Purposes of the "Safe Harbor" Provision of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a "safe harbor" for forward-looking statements. The Press Release included in this Form 6-K contains certain forward looking statements and forecasts reflecting management's current views with respect to certain future events. The ability of the Telecom Italia Group to achieve its projected results is dependent on many factors which are outside of management's control. Actual results may differ materially from those projected or implied in the forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking information involves risks and uncertainties that could significantly affect expected results and are based on certain key assumptions.

The following important factors could cause the Telecom Italia Group's actual results to differ materially from those projected or implied in any forward-looking statements:

- the continuing impact of increased competition in a liberalized market, including competition from global and regional alliances formed by other telecommunications operators in the core domestic fixed-line and wireless markets of the Telecom Italia Group;

- the ability of the Telecom Italia Group to introduce new services to stimulate increased usage to its fixed and wireless networks to offset declines in its traditional fixed-line business due to the continuing impact of regulatory required price reductions, market share loss and pricing pressures generally and shifts in usage pattern;

- the level of demand for telecommunications services, particularly wireless telecommunication services in the maturing Italian market and for new higher value added products and services such as broadband;

- the ability of the Telecom Italia Group to successfully implement its reorganization;

- the success of Telecom Italia's customer loyalty and retention programs and the impact of such programs on revenues;

- the impact of regulatory decisions and changes in the regulatory environment, including implementation of recently adopted EU directives in Italy;

Edgar Filing: TELECOM ITALIA S P A - Form 6-K

- the impact of economic development generally on the international business of the Telecom Italia Group and on its foreign investments and capital expenditures;
- the continuing impact of rapid or "disruptive" changes in technologies;
- the impact of political and economic developments in Italy and other countries in which the Telecom Italia Group operates;
- the impact of fluctuations in currency exchange and interest rates;
- Telecom Italia's ability to successfully implement its strategy over the 2007-2009 period;
- the ability of the Telecom Italia Group to successfully achieve its debt reduction targets;
- Telecom Italia's ability to successfully implement its internet and broadband strategy;
- the ability of the Telecom Italia Group to achieve the expected return on the significant investments and capital expenditures it has made and continues to make in Brazil and in Europe on broadband;
- the amount and timing of any future impairment charges for Telecom Italia's licences, goodwill or other assets; and
- the impact of litigation or decreased mobile communications usage arising from actual or perceived health risks or other problems relating to mobile handsets or transmission masts.

The foregoing factors should not be construed as exhaustive. Such factors should also be considered together with risk factors included in Telecom Italia Group's Annual Report on Form 20-F for 2005. Due to such uncertainties and risks, readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on such forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date hereof. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that the Group will achieve its projected results.
